Four years ago, we were invited to the community of Hillsboro, Wisconsin by Jacqui Davison. She had read CRAIG & FRED and loved it so much that she made it the community read for her town and all its schools. Her passion for reading and the love she has for Hillsboro is contagious and has kept us coming back whenever we can.

On this most recent visit, we were lucky to get a closer look at Jacqui's network of "why not" people and the incredible positive impact they have on their world. Thank you, Mrs. Jirschele, and Hillsboro Middle for making our story a part of your curriculum! 🐾

Kim and Snapper of Hillsboro Brewing Company are examples of what two people can accomplish when they refuse to be compromised by the challenges they face. They've overcome incredible obstacles to create a beautiful and impactful family-run and community-supported business. Everything on their menu is incredible and it tastes even better knowing that you're supporting people that are above all else investing in other people.

Thank you to Jacqui and her friends and family for letting us in, we're better because of you.
